Handbook II:

Advanced Teaching Strategies for Adjunct and Part-Time Faculty, 4th Edition

By Dr. Donald E. Greive, Editor, Ed.D.

IN OVER TWO DOZEN INSTRUCTIONAL ESSAYS, AWARD-WINNING FACULTY, RESEARCHERS AND ADMINISTRATORS HELP ADJUNCT INSTRUCTORS SHARPEN THEIR TEACHING SKILLS.

“I highly recommend this for any teacher, instructor, or adjunct. Great and simple ideas you can use in class, especially with adult learners! I provided a copy to all instructors.” – Amazon.com review

Dr. Donald Greive’s adjunct faculty handbooks have sold a combined 400,000 copies over the past dozen years and are in use in half of the colleges and universities in the U.S. Dr. Greive is a retired academic leader and innovative educator. As a long-time Dean at Cuyahoga Community College, Dr. Greive provided mentoring, development and support to thousands of adjunct faculty. Through his handbooks, he has provided the same easy-to-follow mentoring and guidance to hundreds of thousands of adjunct instructors throughout North America.

“Back in the 90s, Dr. Greive wanted books he could adopt and use in his adjunct faculty development and training programs at Cuyahoga Community College. He couldn’t find what he was looking for, so he wrote A Handbook for Adjunct/Part-Time Faculty and Teachers of Adults, now in its 6th edition,” said P.D. Lesko, Publisher at the Part-Time Press in Ann Arbor, Michigan. “Then he gathered together the essays for Handbook II, the book he distributed to experienced and returning adjunct instructors.”

Handbook II eliminates the mystery of pedagogy, student-centered teaching for adjunct faculty and the mystery of excellence in teaching. An accessible and easy-to-read handbook, each chapter contains tips, strategies and recommendations. The book includes the tools and processes you need to discover, define, differentiate, evaluate and manage your adjunct teaching.

Handbook II tells the truth—the good, the bad and the ugly—about teaching on the college level. In it you’ll discover:

- student engagement and motivation
- integrating technology into the classroom

- collaborative/cooperative learning
- flipped/hybrid courses
- rubrics
- teaching large classes
- distance education
- testing and test strategies
